NOAA Ship ALBATROSS IV

Mission: Ecosystems Monitoring

Day 3: Wednesday, August 16, 2006

Science and Technology Log

1347-- I've lost the past day to seasickness. All the other visitors/females on board have also been sick except for Alexa who is amazing. We are on the midnight to noon shift with Jerry. I missed the whole shift but Alexa worked the whole shift. Barbara and Carly are barely functioning. Tamara and I are still hurting. Everyone is very kind and encouraging. Think I'll head back to bed for now.
